TROUBLED IRELAND.

BRITISH TROOPS TAKE CHARGE.

LONDON, June 6.
The clearing out of Sinn Féin invaders from the Pettigo-Belleek salient is proceeding satisfactorily. The British column, which includes the Lincolns and the North Staffs completely controls the Pettigo area, which embraces a mile of Free State territory, to prevent Sinn Féin harassing tactics.

COLLINS-DE VALERA COMPACT.

PLENTY OF OPPOSITION SHOWING UP.

LONDON, June 5.
After an hour's conference in Dublin Collins and De Valera issued an appeal deprecating electoral contests which are bound to engender bitterness and discord at a time when the unity which the Collins-De Valera pact is intended to promote is essential. They are evidently surprised and alarmed at the growing number of candidates nominated in opposition to their nominees by the Farmers' Union, the Labour Party and other organizations. Over forty such candidates have now been elected necessitating contests in twenty out of twenty-seven constituencies.

STRIKE CAUSED DAMAGE.

U.S. SUPREME COURT'S RULING.

LONDON, June 5.
Chief Justice Taft in the Supreme Court held that labour organizations are liable for damage to property or otherwise caused by members during strikes.

TOY BALLOON AS BOMB.

ATTACK UPON HERR SCHEIDEMANN.

Berlin, June 6.
A message from Cassel states that a youth threw a toy balloon believed to contain prussic acid in the face of burgomaster Scheidemann, the wellknown socialist and ex-Chancellor, and ran off. Herr Scheidemann fired at the fugitive twice without result and then became unconscious for some hours but he was uninjured.

BRITISH TRADE WITH FRANCE.

PARIS, June 6.
Trade statistics show the reduction in imports for 1922 as compared with 1921 was most marked in regard to British goods which fell off 53,000,000 fra. On the contrary French exports to Britain increased by 186,000,000 fra.

STERLING STILL SOARING.

NEW YORK, June 6.
The pound sterling soared to $1.50, the highest since 1919. This is attributed to England's increased foreign trade especially with the United States.

HORRIBLE STORY FROM RUSSIA.

CHILDREN SHOT "FOR HUMANITARIAN REASONS."

PARIS, June 5.
A message from Helsingfors says that the Soviet Red Gazette announces that the Bolshevik authorities, for humanitarian and sanitary reasons in one famine district shot 117 children afflicted with glanders developed through eating infected horse flesh.

HOME ENGINEERING DISPUTE.

ACCEPTANCE OF EMPLOYERS' PROPOSALS URGED.

LONDON, June 5.
Mr. Brownlie, President of the A.E.U. appealed to members to vote in favour of acceptance of the employers proposals in view both of the concessions they contain and the Union's financial position.

OCCUPATION OF THE RHINE.

U. S. TROOPS TO STAY ON.

WASHINGTON, June 5.
The Secretary of War has ordered two battalions to remain at Coblenz after July 1; the date originally fixed for the complete withdrawal of American troops.

PORTUGUESE AIRMEN'S TRANSATLANTIC FLIGHT.

PERNAMBUCO, June 5.
The Portuguese aviators have arrived here safely, completing their transatlantic flight.

COUNTY CRICKET.

LATEST RESULTS AND SCORES.

LONDON, June 5.
Playing at Lord's Middlesex beat Sussex by eight wickets, Darton taking seven of the losers' wickets at a cost of 12 runs in their second innings.

Essex scored the substantial victory of an innings and 297 runs over Worcestershire at Serton. For Essex Dixon scored 173 and Freeman 102 and London, in the losers' first innings took 7 wickets for 22.

At Derby Warwick won by ten wickets from Derbyshire. For the victors, Quaife made 107 in the first innings.

RIVER STEAMER EXPLODES.

ARGENTINE TOURISTS DROWNED.

BUENOS AIRES, June 5.
The Argentine steamer "Villa Franca," conveying tourists up the Iguaçu River exploded and sank. Fifty were drowned.

THE CHINESE SOLDIER.

"PROPERLY LED THEY COULD DO ANYTHING."

It was my good fortune just twelve months before the Great War (writes "Ex-Regulus" in the Daily Mail) to see something of China's military power.

I was on leave in the East travelling with two brother officers. We found ourselves in Shanghai in August 1913, when a small rebellion was in progress. Yuan Shi-kai's forces held the Arsenal; rebel troops occupied the Woosung forts.

Chinese fashion, the rebellion and the ordinary life of the European community continued together within the same area without the one interfering with the other.

My two brother officers and myself took the opportunity of seeing something of the fighting. We made an excursion to the Woosung forts and watched the bombardment of the position by the Chinese Navy.

The Presidential forces had modern firearms and their shooting was pretty accurate. The rebel chief weapon of defence was a large muzzle-loading gun, which they charged with mineral "cannisters" and "pains" which, when fired, emitted a cloud of yellow smoke that completely obscured the fort for three minutes and projected a cannon ball that fell with a mighty plop into the sea half a mile short of the objective.

What interested us particularly was a visit we paid to the Loyalist trenches round the Arsenal.

These trenches, which were manned by Yuan Shi-kai's forces, were good, sound field works of modern construction. The troops were khaki-clad, well equipped, and well armed.

The only feature of the defence which was not quite in accordance with modern principles was the look-out post. This was a sort of miniature pagoda, erected above the trench and showing clearly against the sky-line. It must have been a death trap for more than one unfortunate sentry put on the look-out.

The officer in charge of this section was extremely friendly to us especially when he found that we were brothers in arms. He took us to his dug-out and insisted on our drinking tea with him, apologetically in the most charming way for its being only "poor soldiers' tea."

Later he allowed us to take a photograph of the position. His men had a great sense of the dignity of war and would not allow themselves to be taken in any attitude that was not strictly military. They tightened up their equipment and lined the trench with their rifles to their shoulders and bayonets fixed.

The Chinese subaltern—the officer of the company with whom we had been having tea—drew his sword and knelt stiffly behind the trench.

These men of Yuan Shi-kai's army, the first Chinese troops to be trained on European principles, filled us with a sense of their possibilities. We felt that, properly led, they could do anything.

OLD BUT USEFUL.

$200 FIVE FOR OWNING RIFLE.

A boatman was charged before Magistrate Linsell this morning with the unlawful possession on board his fishing boat in Aberdeen harbour, of a Winchester rifle.

Mr. A. E. Hall, who appeared for the defence, entered a plea of guilty, but said that the rifle was of a very old pattern, and was no longer serviceable.

Inspector Ogg said that but for the trigger being tight owing to rust, the weapon was very serviceable. He worked it at the station and it "clicked" alright. The Inspector added that the defendant was fined $50 in 1914 for a similar offence, and his licence was suspended to that effect.

Mr. Hall said that that was the defendant's brother.

Inspector Ogg said that the defendant's licence was cancelled. When the police went alongside the defendant's boat there was a great commotion, and the defendant was seen attempting to pass the rifle to another boat.

After a had inspected the defendant's licence, the Magistrate said that there was no doubt about the previous conviction, and fined the defendant $200.

A Yen-mei Chinese is now in the Kwong Wah Hospital suffering from a dog bite. He was attacked by the dog without any provocation while walking in Shanghai Street. The dog has been destroyed.

"CRIME, JUSTICE, FOREIGN SERVICE."

HONGKONG, TUESDAY, JUNE 6, 1922.

OUR NEW GAME LAW.

This subject to be fairly treated requires half a dozen articles. That is to say, it is capable of observation from that many angles, and six writers if discreetly chosen, would be sure to treat it in six different ways.
Six very different ways. Two would be sportsmen, fond of dog and gun, but of differing social (ought we to say racial?) class. One would approve the other condemn. One would be a critic who takes no delightin killing things; but respects life. A Buddhist, perhaps; certainly one who "loveth best all creatures great or small, for the dear God who loveth us, he made and loveth all."
Another would be that type of political Puritan who would demand to know what sanction the Government had for laying down pheasants, for whose benefit it does so, and on whose land, with a glance at the possibility of manufacturing criminals out of otherwise virtuous agriculturalists. The aesthete, the nature lover, would contribute. So would the scientist, with some words of warning against over-gliffness in the definition of pests, and a reference to the "balance of nature."
The China Mail must try to be as Protestant as it can, and do its humble best, undimmed by the prospect that whereas one sixth of its readers may approve, the probability is that one hundred per cent. will be dissatisfied. The equally probable outcome that the majority will be indifferent also has to be faced. The fact that our comments cannot influence our legislators, who pursue their course regardless, might be offered as evidence of harmlessness, but would not avert blame for intent.
If it is going to mean more protection for our small wild birds, it seems to deserve welcome, though how that can happen without an army of paid or unpaid helpers we do not know.
The small boy here is as ruthless as he is elsewhere, if not more so. Only the other day, in one of our city streets, a Chinese boy with a long bamboo poked out of a tree the nest and eggs of a pair of small birds in which we had been taking an affectionate interest. He got no good of it, and could have counted on none. It was wanton mis-hid. A "fine not exceeding $50" would have done nothing here, have hurt an offending parent. We would like to see the whole island of Hongkong made a sanctuary for birds, and never a gun fired upon it. They are more precious here in our midst than at Fanning, where only a few of us go.

If the Government would "lay down" robins and bulhuls and other small birds that pipe and would appreciate it more than pheasants, which are merely things to eat. Are pheasants not as destructive as deer?
We do not believe Mr. Lloyd George was correct in saying that pheasants devour the poor farmer's turnips.
Our notion of their dietary is different. But what about silkworms?
We observe in "objects and reasons" that "the number of guns per acre is excessive." Who makes this report, and why? We remember uneasily that our higher police officers are great sportsmen in this line. We notice also that the licence of a sportsman "may be revoked at any time by the Captain Superintendent of Police in his discretion," and those three words we cannot admire, remembering what was so well put by the historian Guizot, that "power bears within itself a natural vice, a principle of weakness and of abuse which ought to render it limited." Power at individual discretion is practically unlimited.
In this case, though the wording proceeds to tell of faults that shall cause the penalty, they are in effect rubbed out by that phrase, to which the empowered officer can always appeal with confidence. When "laying down" pheasants there must be keepers, or all the rules of the game are broken. Has the Legislative Council passed an appropriation for this purpose, or is the C.P.O., "in his discretion," to divert the policemen from their regular duties to those of game watchers? Perhaps, after all, we had better defer our comments until the Government has had the opportunity of answering these and other questions.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

The use of the wrong side of the southern railway car three times was $15 at the Marine Court this morning.

The death is announced in the home papers of the Rev. Arthur Elwin, for thirty years a C.M.S.
Missionary in China.

Sir John Walsingham and Mrs. E.R.
G.R. Evans were among the passengers leaving for Tientsin on the C. N. S. "Tangchow" from Shanghai.

Mr. R. C. Morton, General Manager in the Far East for the United States Shipping Board has arrived in Shanghai on the s.s. "President Jefferson."

Captain S. Kobayashi, naval attache at the Japanese Embassy in London, has been recalled. Rear-Admiral T. Torisu, chief of staff at Yokosuka, will succeed him.

A hundred and twenty marriages were celebrated at the Town Hall, Lille, between the hours of 8 a.m.
and noon (says Reuter from Paris).
This is believed to be a record.

While fishing off the boat-house at Stanley yesterday, a 10-year old Chinese boy accidentally fell into the water and was drowned. His body was picked up in the vicinity a few hours later.

There was quite a little excitement outside the Harbour Office this morning when a Chinese stole some money from a man's pocket. He jumped into the harbour but was fished out and sent to the Police Headquarters.

Threatened with pneumonia Rear Admiral J. S. Dumaresq, former commander of the Australian fleet of the British Navy, was taken from the "Tango Maru" upon its arrival at Manila and taken to the United States
General Hospital. Governor General Wood made arrangements for the Admiral's comfort and attendance.

A Chinese woman was arrested yesterday on a charge of having ill-treated a small servant girl in a house in Cochrane Street. She was allowed police bail in the sum of $1,000. When the case was called before Magistrate Lindell this morning the defendant failed to appear. The Magistrate ordered her bail and issued a warrant for her arrest.

Commander C. W. Beckwith had before him at the Marine Court this morning a boat woman charged with throwing articles overboard to prevent their seizure. Evidence showed that on the approach of the Police she threw overboard two bags of coal.
Defendant strongly denied the charge and said the coal was put on board her scamp while she was asleep.
Defendant was dismissed with a caution as she had been locked up since June 3.

AN "EMPRESS" ABSENTEE.

BOILER ATTENDANT CHARGED.

D. Lee, boiler attendant of the "Empress of Canada" was charged at the Marine Court to-day by G.
Hailey, captain of the ship, with absenting himself without permission.

Defendant when asked to plead said "I went ashore to post a letter."
The Magistrate (Commander C. W.
Beckwith): How long did you stay?
Defendant: About 14 hours.
Do you plead guilty?—Yes.

Capt. Hailey said that on the 2nd inst. defendant came aboard at about 10.30. He was drunk and threatened to knife the third engineer. Witness took defendant to the Police Station but they refused to take the charge until the Harbour Master had been seen. Witness ordered defendant on board the ship, but he again absented himself on the 3rd. When defendant returned witness sent for him and he was abusive. He was then charged.

Defendant said that he went ashore with some sailor chums. He did not remember anything of the disturbance on the ship.
Witness said defendant had objected to the fact that they had brought the ship out from England and it was to be handed over to a Chinese crew.
The old crew would go on the ship for repatriation. They were now living in the third class quarters. He was the only man who had objected to this arrangement.

Commander Beckwith strongly warned defendant of the serious consequences that might follow another breach of discipline. Considering that defendant had been in jail since Saturday, he fined him five days' pay.

Interfering to stop a fight between two coolies in Bonham Road, a Chinese constable was roughly handled by both men, receiving injuries which necessitated his removal to the hospital. His assistants have not been arrested.

BANK ROBBERY.

THIEVES' HUGE HAUL.

HALF A MILLION DOLLARS
STOLEN.YOKOHAMA SPECIE BANK
BURGLED.

A big robbery involving the loss of nearly five lacs of dollars occurred at the Yokohama Specie Bank in Chater Road during the holidays.

Rumours of the robbery were in circulation soon after 9 o'clock this morning when the business houses re-opened after the holiday, and soon the whole City had the news.

Everyone was talking about it and the stories a China Mail reporter gathered during his tour of investigation on this morning were many.
Some put the loss down to nearly a million dollars, and others who professed to know all about the robbery, said that the bank was entered by removing some bricks in the wall on the side of the building along which a narrow and dark lane runs, and that the money was stolen from a safe in the Manager's room. Another version was that the robbery was an "inside" one, and there was a theory that the robbers were let into the premises by one of the Chinese servants who had since absconded.

Mr. T. Nishiyama, the Manager of the Bank was interviewed, and made the following statement: "My cash box was broken open during the holidays and a large sum of money stolen. The cash box was in the strongroom; downstairs. I would not like to say exactly how much money was stolen, but roughly, it is over four, but not quite five lacs of dollars in Hongkong money. The cash box was put in the strongroom on Friday afternoon, before the Bank was closed for the holidays. We did not discover the robbery until this morning, and I immediately informed the police.
The door which opens into the passage leading to the strongroom, the strongroom door, and the walls of the passage were all intact. The robbery must have been committed by someone with duplicate keys to the two securely fastened doors. I would not like to say anything more, as the police are investigating the robbery.
If there are any developments I will let you know."

After the interview, the reporter picked up the tumour that the police had discovered some finger prints on the strongroom door. He was, however, unable to confirm this.

LATE MR. LAU CHU PAK.

PRINCE OF WALES' REGRETS.

His Excellency the Governor has received the following letter expressing the Prince of Wales' regrets at the death of the late Mr. Lau Chu Pak.
Takamatsu, Japan, May 6th, 1922.
Dear Sir Reginald.—The Prince of Wales was very sorry to read in today's paper of the death of Dr. Lau Chu Pak, a member of the Legislative Council, who read the Chinese address of welcome to His Royal Highness and sat beside him at the Chinese dinner in the Tai Ping Theatre.

His Royal Highness would ask you to convey an expression of his sincere sympathy to the relatives of the deceased.

Believe me,
Yours very truly,
(sd.) GODFREY THOMAS
Private Secretary.

His Excellency
Sir Reginald Stubbs, Hongkong.

FOX-TROT COMPETITION.

Keen interest is being shown in the fox-trot competition which has been arranged to take place at a special dance at the Kowloon Theatre this evening. Handsome prizes have been put up by the management and both for the competitors and for those who content themselves with just a "looksee", the night should prove a thoroughly enjoyable one. The competition will not be permitted to take up the whole programme but will be confined to two dances—numbers 8 and 9.

A SLIPPERY CUSTOMER.

A Chinese, charged before Commander C. W. Beckwith at the Marine Court this morning with boarding the s.s. "Hydrangea" without permission, was sent to prison for two months with hard labour.

Earlier in the morning the defendant discovered to escape from the Marine Court. He was placed in the dock and pretended to be asleep.
Watching his opportunity he dashed out but was caught. When arrested on the "Hydrangea" he tried to escape from the handcuffs.

MACAO AFFAIR.

CANTON STILL FEEBED.

FIGHTING MAY BE EXPECTED AT ANY MOMENT.

Today's Canton Times says that the Provincial Assembly met yesterday afternoon to discuss the recent affair in Macao. The meeting decided that the government should take drastic measures concerning the settling of the diplomatic affair. The Governor has been requested by the Provincial Assembly to present strong protests to the Macao government.

News has been received by the Canton Times from a correspondent to the effect that:

"Macao has been prepared for war since declared under martial law. On the morning of the 4th instant a gun-boat with 140 Portuguese on board arrived at Macao and anchored near Praya Grande. The 140 Portuguese went to see the governor of Macao and were forthwith used as volunteer corps. The Chinese government is afraid that Chinese forces may advance from Chinsan by way of the frontier gate (Kwan chup) and had on the 3rd instant given out orders that all motor cars in Macao should be under the control of the Macao government for the purpose of transporting guns and ammunition.
For fear the supplies may become exhausted, 20,000,000 pounds of bread have been ordered from Shanghai.
Coal has been ordered from Hongkong.
All the Portuguese in Macao have been commissioned as volunteer corps.
Water supplies have been suspended from Ngan Hang and other places. On the 2nd instant about twenty armed African soldiers escorted a big group of prisoners to the frontier gate and Mah Kwok fortress to dig trenches and put down barbed wires.

Macao is now a deserted place. All the merchant shops and family houses have closed their doors in spite of drastic measures taken by the Macao government. Most of the merchants stop their business. Some have gone to Hongkong and others to Canton. Even the riches coolies have gone on strike and there is no riches to be seen in Macao. Handbills and circulars have been distributed to every house advising the inhabitants to leave Macao immediately, and quite a good number have either left for Hongkong or Canton, or temporarily skirted to Lapa Island.
Volunteer Corps have been formed by the Chinese at Lapa Island. Fighting may be expected at any moment near the water front."

TO-DAY'S DEMONSTRATION.

A parade to demonstrate the attitude of the people concerning the Macao incident, is taking place in Canton to-day. Many labour organizations are participating and the demonstration will be headed by Mr. Wong Woon-ting, president of the labour federation.

STEAM LAUNCH PIRATED.

ABOUT $5,000 STOLEN.

A piracy is reported to have taken place just outside British waters yesterday. The steam launch "Sun On" belonging to the ferry service between Saiyuechuen and Ngokun, left Ngokun soon after 11 o'clock yesterday morning fully laden with cargo and a large number of passengers. After a couple of hours' journey, when the launch was just outside British waters at about 12.45, thirteen men who had boarded the launch as passengers at Ngokun, suddenly produced revolvers and held up the launch.
They relieved the coxswain, passengers and crew of all their valuables, money, clothing and jewellery, and then boarded a boat which was lying in the vicinity and rowed back to Ngokun, after threatening to shoot the coxswain if he dared to follow. The exact amount of property stolen is not yet ascertainable, but it is estimated that the value of the haul would be at least $5,000.

ROWING F AT

ISLAND CIRCUMNAVIGATED
IN SKIFF.

D. LOGAN'S FLUCKY FUL.

On Saturday D. Logan succeeded in pulling round the island in a rowing skiff. The Whitstide holidays thus contribute another item to Hongkong sporting annals, for it is believed that this is the first time such a feat has been accomplished. Mr. D. Logan is well known here in rowing circles and he was so little affected by his long pull that he was able to attend the ball at Government House on Saturday night. When seen by a China Mail representative this morning he was in a very cheerful mood and declined to say anything extraordinary in the affair. When asked how he came to undertake the venture, he simply remarked that he saw the sea looked very calm and as he was not keen on the races he thought he would have a "hack" at getting round. He started from the Royal Hongkong Yacht Club at 10.30 a.m. and proceeded by way of Lymon. Going through the channel he encountered a fairly strong current and, as he himself put it, "had to slug all the way to Cape D'Aguiar."

Once there the remainder was pain sailing as he got into a favourable current which helped him on towards Aberdeen. At Aberdeen, he says, he was going strong. It was there that the coxswain was able to obtain his first cigarette. He got as close as possible to a launch and asked that a lighted cigarette be thrown aboard his skiff. This was successfully accomplished. From Aberdeen Logan proceeded via Sulphur Channel and arrived at the Yacht Club again at 5.30 p.m. giving him the time of seven hours for the entire journey. Mr. Logan says he was very lucky in getting such an ideal day. There was a little swell by Cape D'Aguiar and again as he was rounding the point into the passage by Green Island but he did not ship a sea. The distance he considers nothing. Be that as it may local sportsmen will be ready to admit that to attempt such a journey unaccompanied is a skiff which requires some gameness and they will congratulate Mr. Logan on his successful accomplishment. To those who may desire to emulate his feat Mr. Logan gives this advice—Have more than a pair of rowing trunks to protect your legs from the sun. Mine are sore to day, but that's the only thing wrong."

A TASTE FOR LITERATURE.

Captain G. F. Spinks charged a coolie before Magistrate Fraser this morning with the theft of three books worth $3.

Inspector Caygill, who conducted the prosecution, said that the Captain bought eight sets of books at Messrs Hughes and Hough's auction rooms, and hired the defendant who was one of a number of coolies hanging about the auction rooms looking for odd jobs, to take the books to his house No. 163, Wanchai Road. One of the sets of books was stolen by the defendant during the transit, and he delivered only seven sets to Mrs. Spinks.

After Captain and Mrs. Spinks had given evidence, the defendant denied that he had stolen the books. He added that he had been 10 years in Hongkong and had never been in a police court before.

Another coolie who was called for the defence expressed surprise that the defendant should be accused of theft, as he was a most honest man.

In spite of this the Magistrate convicted and passed sentence of 10 days' hard labour.

THE MACAO AFFAIR.

OFFICIAL VERSION OF THE RIOTS.

NOTE TO CANTON GOVERNMENT.

The following translation of an official dispatch by His Excellency the Governor of Macao to the Canton Authorities has been communicated for publication:—

Sir, In acknowledging the receipt of the translation of the dispatch of the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs of the Province of Kwang Tung, dated the 31st May last, which has been forwarded by your good self, I beg to make the following reply:—

I see from the despatch of the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, that a completely erroneous account of the events which have taken place in Macao and are referred to in the said despatch has reached the Canton Government. That information said:—

"On the 28th instant, at about 9 p.m., Portuguese soldiers of Macao abused some Chinese women, and the Chinese who were nearby advised them and hindered them from so doing. The Portuguese soldiers, however, wishing to show off their bravery, assaulted the Chinese. Then the soldiers and the Portuguese police arrested a few Chinese and took them to the Police Station. When the Chinese went to the said station later on to ask that those who had been arrested be set free, the soldiers and the Portuguese police fired on them indiscriminately, killing some of them and wounding more than ten. On the following day the Chinese Community assembled in great indignation and went to the Police Station to ask that the guilty be punished and the innocent be set free."

The sailors who had landed from the Portuguese warships again fired on the crowd, killing on that occasion more than ten persons and wounding about one hundred. The corpses were cast into the sea."

Have to state the following:—

It is not exact that the soldiers had abused some Chinese women; it is not exact that the soldiers, to show off their bravery or for any other purpose, had assaulted the Chinese; it is not exact that the soldiers had arrested Chinese; it is not exact that the soldiers and the Police fired indiscriminately on the Chinese; it is not exact that any sailors had landed from the warships and fired; it is not exact that corpses were thrown into the sea.

"A GRAVE REBELLION."

What took place in this city on the 28th and 29th May last was a grave rebellion with the most excessive disregard for the Authorities and the law; an insurrection that was calmly borne for eighteen consecutive hours, during which time every kind of persuasion was tried, also good counsels and requests, as well as every kind of conciliatory and friendly effort were availed of, so that the riotous population might desist from their criminal purpose; endeavours, requests and kind words were of no avail, so that at the end of such a long period of eighteen hours, and in the face of the imminent danger, in which the military force found itself being overwhelmed by the very large crowd, in the face of the greatest insults and the attempted murder of an officer belonging to the said force, it became necessary to make use of firearms.

The Government of Macao has been distinguished during the whole of this troublous period which passed over South China, by showing much tolerance and the most liberal forbearance in its treatment of the working classes. The Macao Authorities possess the most undeniable proofs, in authentic documents, of its kindness and even friendship towards the population of Chinese race that live in this Colony. To confirm the first of these facts, the liberal way in which the labouring classes have been treated in Macao there is nothing more eloquent than the celebrations held on the first of May last, which here in Macao, had the fullest permission and liberty, whereas, in Canton itself, in Hongkong and in every large centre in these regions, there was nothing similar to the celebrations which were held in Macao.

LABOUR GUILDS TOLERATED.

As a proof of this liberal spirit, there is the tolerance with which the Authorities had been permitting the existence in the Colony of many labour associations, which persisted in not regulating their status according to law, in spite of repeated advice which had been tendered them to take that lawful course.

The proof of the tokens of friendship of the Macao Authorities towards the Chinese population is to be found in the spontaneous and significant forms of gratitude which were shown, a few days ago, to the Governor who will sign this, by the highest representative of the Chinese Community, and also in many assurances of friendship which, till the last days were shown towards the present Superintendent of Police, a man who was singled out as a truly great protector of Chinese; a man who had dared to risk his own life, a few weeks ago, in a public square of this city, in order to avoid that a trivial street fight should be transferred into a tragedy, who, with the other Authorities, put forward every effort during the Seamen's strike in order that the Chinese population should always be provided with food and good cheer; a man who for eighteen hours, during which that criminal rebellion of the 28th and 29th May ultimo, lasted, availed himself of all the efforts of his good heart, so that not a drop of blood should be shed in the streets of Macao.

Well, a section of the population of Macao, either forgetting or despising the benefits it has continuously received, forgetting or despising the regard which it ought to have towards the Authorities and the national laws, forgetting or despising, I say, the general interests of the land it was living in, and which required of it peace and tranquillity, a section of the population of Macao, surely guided by criminal instigators, thought that it could subvert the life of a civilized country, to superpose the Authorities, to make absurd requests of them and to dominate the same Authorities; to dominate over the rest of the peaceful population, to affront those who, by law and by nature, are entitled to be respected, to assault, to kill, to perturb completely the life of a country in such a despicable, criminal and violent manner; that is what that section of the population did on the 28th and 29th of May last.

THE EVENTS RELATED.

Although this refers to an event of the internal life of Macao, moved, however, by a cordiality of sentiments on the part of this Government towards the Chinese Authorities, a bearing which only a few days ago I personally had the pleasure to reaffirm, I am now going to relate the events of the 28th and 29th May last, as they took place, and are known to the whole population of this Colony, such as they have merited reference, though in an approximate and incomplete form by some of the most unsuspecting foreign papers which declared that they had received their information from citizens who had arrived from Macao, and even from members of the Labour Unions of this city.

The Canton Government must prize, as it cannot be otherwise, the indisputable principle that the legitimate authority can neither be subverted nor insulted; that no one may disregard the legitimate rights of others and the tranquillity of the peaceful inhabitants, the Canton Government will surely be the first to recognize that the Macao Authorities have proceeded with a great wish for peacefulness and with a great spirit for sacrifice.

In one of the streets of this city, on the 28th May, in the afternoon, there was merely a personal incident between an African soldier and a group of people of Chinese race. According to enquiries and to the account most unfavourable to the African soldier, he, stopping by the door of a prostitute's house, addressed her and gave a push; but according to the account most favourable to the soldier, he simply stopped to look at her.

A man of Chinese race, who was passing by with five others, spoke to the soldier in regular Portuguese and scolded him for his attitude towards the prostitute; and after a short talk, during which it is not proven that the soldier had uttered even an insulting word, this group of individuals pursued and assaulted the soldier in such a way that he had to go to Hospital where the doctors said he would be unfit to work for 11 days.

To show that no thought of hostility towards the Chinese people impelled the African soldier, and also the correctness of his behaviour, it is only necessary to say that he being advised to go in a ricksha, replied to a European who saw him thus treated, that he could not do so, because the African soldiers are debarred from using rickshas, and he did not wish to disobey that order.

When this assault took place, it was natural that a policeman should appear. He arrested the African soldier and one of the assailants who was then holding on to the assault. The soldier was sent in custody to the Hospital, because of the contusions that he had received, and the assailant was taken to the Chip Seng Police Station.

A COMMON INCIDENT.

It is to be observed that incidents such as those which have happened between the African soldier, the woman and the assailants are common street scenes, which occur in every land of every nation in Europe, as well as in America and in China. How many similar cases occur in Canton, how many similar cases occur in Macao with the Chinese soldiers from the neighbouring garrisons who, during so many years, have come here so often to spend their leisure hours.

In Macao when these cases occur with the soldiers of the Garrison, and when they are found to be guilty, they are punished disciplinarily without the crowd having to become mutinous and without the crowd being disrespectful and arrogant, trying to give orders to the proper authorities.

Everyone may rest assured that if it be proven that the African soldier with whom occurred the scene of the 28th May, is in any way guilty which it appears, up to this moment, is not proved, he will be punished according to the regulations.

After the capture of the soldier who, as previously mentioned, was sent to Hospital, and of one of his aggressors who was sent to the Chip Seng Police Station, some people at once began to demand of the Chief of that Station that this aggressor should be set free. The Chief of the Police Station, as was "only right," refused to comply with the demand that was made as he could not legally set free any prisoner without the consent of the proper Authority.

The turbulent crowd increased and the Chief of the Police Station informed the Central Station; then appeared Captain Cabaco, the Chief of Police, the officer previously mentioned, the same man in whom all the people of Macao recognise the kind and paternal manner of always doing his duty. Captain Cabaco began by trying his best to induce the crowd to disperse and to go away. He told them that the prisoner would be set free if, after the inquiry, nothing was proven against him, but that this could not be done on the "mutineers' demand." To these friendly efforts, to these requests by the Chief of Police, the crowd which was growing very large, replied most disrespectfully. They threw stones at the Station and threatened to deliver an assault so as to gain their end; and who knows for what further criminal purposes.

ONLY A PRETEXT.

Was this crowd's act spontaneous? Even this the Macao Authorities must doubt, and they have weighty reasons for so thinking, the principal of which is that on the morning of the 28th May some emissaries of the Macao Labour Associations went over to Taipa and Coloane Islands, in order to try and get the support of the traders and workmen of those islands for a general strike, which was to take place in the afternoon of the same day; thus showing most clearly that the idea of a rebellion did not emanate from the indignation of the crowd on account of the African soldier's supposed attitude, nor from the refusal on the part of the Authorities, but that this referred to a seditious movement, previously thought out, and for which the scene with the African soldier merely served as a favourable pretext.

About 9.30 p.m. that is to say, after three hours of seeing the uselessness of his pacific efforts, and justly fearing for the safety of the Police Station, Captain Cabaco telephoned asking that an infantry force be sent for the protection of the said Station. Indeed, to protect the Station there was only a small squad of civil Police and a platoon of four African soldiers who every night patrol that section of the Praia. The infantry force, made up of a platoon of 40 men, under the command of a sub-lieutenant, left San Francisco barracks for the Chip Seng Station; and on passing along the Almeida Ribeiro Street it was stoned and some shots were fired at it from the windows and roofs of some of the houses.

A few persons of undisputable respectability, such as Mr. Adriano Trigo, the Engineer-Director of the Public Works, Mr. Cesar de Almeida, the Attorney General, and Captain Walter de Lima, the Chief Staff Officer, the latter had gone there to give some friendly advice, were all hit by stones which had been thrown. Then, three soldiers fired their arms in the air. By order of the Officer, they went along in an orderly way without further reply to this aggression.

Then followed the long efforts of 15 hours in which all the resignation, all the unsurpassable and the almost incomprehensible spirit of sacrifice on the part of the officers and soldiers were put to the supreme trial.

Lieutenant Rogerio Ferreira, the acting Commander of the Infantry Company to which the platoon belonged appeared there, as he had called to lend his efforts and his prestige and authority over the soldiers, for he is one of the officers who had performed the greatest services during the Great War, he being honoured with medals from Portugal and from foreign nations. He came to preserve disciplinary action, advising the soldiers to remain calm, forcing them to suffer their long trial of being offended, provoked and even humiliated by the crowd.

Fifteen hours of incomparable moral sufferings, fifteen hours of fatigue, fifteen hours without the right to a piece of bread or to a drop of water, because the mutinous crowd which had been made up of several thousands and who were waving before their eyes the flags of their associations, did not permit the passers-by to pass, did not let their food go by. They had barricaded the neighbouring streets with tables, rickshas and bamboos crossed on the roads. They had positively established their dominion of anarchy. The European passengers for the regular steamer were debarred from passing; the merchandise which was to be shipped, was ordered back; the postal mails, which were about to be despatched, were kept back and detained.

The food destined for the military was seized, a Navy Officer commanding one of the warships, who was on the way to the ship of his command, was twice attacked by the crowd and was compelled to alight from the ricksha which was taking him on his way, the multitude opposing his advance. The steam launches had tried to go alongside their wharves and were ordered to back out. Among these were a few Government launches. The Agency of the Hongkong line of steamers wrote to the Government to take urgent measures for safeguarding the liberty of their transit.

All these acts were accompanied with shouts, insults, threats and provocations hurled at the armed force.

CONTINGENCIES FORESEEN.

In the meantime to rightly show that this movement had an organisation and regular preparation, the assailants were served with food. Many individuals who wore emblems of a self-entitled corporation of the Red Cross, which, however, is not officially recognised in this Colony, walked about distributing bandages and some medicines in the event of there being casualties. It appears that this contingency had been foreseen by the crowd.

About 10 a.m. of the 29th May, as Captain Cabaco had spoken about the fatigue of, and the want of food for the force which was at Chip Seng Station, it was determined that another infantry platoon should be sent there to relieve the one that was already there.

Captain Cabaco, on being informed of this order, told it to the crowd, explaining to them that it was simply a substitution, but the crowd showed its opposition to this fact.

Thinking that that arrival of this force would greatly irritate the feelings of the crowd, Captain Cabaco requested that the force be not yet despatched.

However, it was absolutely necessary to relieve the platoon which was so fatigued and had been without food. Therefore, it was resolved to send on the new platoon by water, so as not to cause an alarm while crossing the city. Captain Cabaco, still wishing that the arrival of the said force should not provoke greater excitement, asked for its recall when it was already on the way.

This could not be done, because at that moment the launch which was conveying them could not be signalled to. Before the approach of the launch alongside the ship Seng Whai, Captain Cabaco, having always the same thought in mind, ordered Lieutenant Rogério Ferreira, the distinguished officer previously referred to by me, to go to the wharf to tell the launch to remain a little way off, without leading the force that it was bringing over.

Lieutenant Rogério Ferreira then went to the wharf in order to obey the order he had received. It was then that the events were precipitated. The crowd, seeing this officer separated from the force surrounded him, assaulted him, wrested his sword from him, bent it and threw it into a near-by well; where it was found later on. They tore his uniform, knocked off his cap and even tried to throw him into the harbour, one of his possessed assailants going so far as to lay his hands on the officer's throat. Another Portuguese citizen, named Augusto Beca, who was also overtaken by the crowd, was assaulted and thrown over the wharf, on which however, he succeeded in holding himself suspended. From the maddened crowd, broke out some first shots, killing at once one of the African soldiers of the small patrolling force. The great mass of the assailants then threw itself definitely forward to overwhelm the force. It was then that the force opened fire, not only in the fulfilment of the very duties of the military laws, but also in the extreme circumstances for its own salvation.

Large was, unfortunately, the percentage of the dead. This fact, as very ably narrated by the South China Morning Post of Hongkong and which those who are experts in military affairs know very well is a peculiar fact, which only occurs when the fire is at a very close range. This, in itself, shows the truth that the crowd was falling with its weight upon the military force which it was surrounding.

The firing lasted only an instant, for immediate orders were given to cease fire. The crowd ran away in a disorderly manner. As one of the foreign journals calls attention to, there were no pursuists, there was no chasing after the mutineers who during such a long time had provoked the force and had insulted it. The force did not justly break ranks; it was under the orders of its officers who did not permit it to fire, not even one more shot. There was not any word of revenge. When the force left its place, it was only to succour the wounded and collect the dead.

The dead were not thrown into the sea. If two or three corpses appeared in the water, it was surely because they fell there when they were hit or when they were hurled by the crowd in its flight.

Instead of their being cast into the sea, they were collected from the water. All the corpses were piously collected and their obits and wounds were verified by the Doctors.

They were put into coffins and handed over to the benevolent institution, known as the "Kang Hu Hospital" for burial, the relatives who so wished to accompany the funerals.

The wounded were not collected by the self-styled Red Cross Society which, in this last instance, abandoned the place and did not render any aid. As was previously mentioned, this work was done by the very soldiers of the force with some help, also Portuguese, and they were taken to the Hospitals, where Government Surgeons and the Municipal Doctor operated on them. They were so tenderly attended to that there are hopes that most of them will be completely cured.

NOT A MASSACRE.

There was no massacre, there was not one case of inhumanity, there was no case of aggression against the peaceful folk; there was not in any way a case of enmity against a people of a different origin. There was a repression of a grave movement of insurrection, there was the very defence of the public safety and of authority, there was the defence of the lives of the military force and, before opening fire, there was the greatest, the most unsurpassable and unimaginable complacency; and, after the fire, there was generosity, there was humanity in collecting the dead, in tenderly looking after the wounded, and leaving without pursuit or punishment the rest that had committed a real crime.

It is, nevertheless, convenient to refer to a fact which shows to what extreme lengths the Authorities went in their wish to avoid the shedding of blood.

In the middle of the night as some delegates from the Associations had proposed to bail the prisoner, with funds from the said Unions, the Chief of Police, after explaining to them the difficulty of so doing before the hour for the opening of the Court, because of the insistence of the delegates, resolved to ask the Acting-Governor, if he thought fit to permit that the bail could be immediately granted. In the middle of the night the Executive Council assembled, exclusively for this purpose. The Judge was invited to be present, and such was the wish to resolve this amicably, that it was agreed to open the Court at once. This, perhaps, is a unique fact in the history of all the Courts. The Judge granted the desired bail. The Chief of Police, Mr. Cabaco, having been informed of this concession which had been obtained, passed on this information to the interested parties. As they did not come for the purpose of bailing, he repeatedly renewed this information.

Well, the bail having been granted with such an extraordinary demonstration on the part of the Authority of his wish to facilitate everything, was not availed of; it being very manifestly proven that the question of bailing the man under arrest, as well as the question about the incident with the African soldier, was nothing more than a pretext for the rebellion into which the crowd had resolved to throw itself.

Without any reluctance, I furnish all this information to the Government of Canton. Not having been informed by exact account of course, that Government was surprised that the Macao Government, with which are maintained friendly relations, with whose effective Chief some of its Authorities had lately had the most cordial intercourse, should avail itself of so violent and uncalled for a measure against the peaceful citizens of Chinese origin.

Without any reluctance, therefore, I make this long exposition to deny categorically the mischievous information that has been tendered to the Canton Government, and to demonstrate, in a complete manner, that cannot be refuted at all, that the Macao Authorities have proceeded with the greatest prudence and with a truly pacific and humanitarian feeling.

Nobody could nor will ever expect the Macao Authorities to permit the subversion of the principle of Authority, of order and of public safety to take place.

They are legitimately constituted Authorities; they represent a country, with liberal feelings of which it has given proofs to the whole world, and which has laws that are sovereign, that no will of large or small crowds can destroy.

Blood was shed. Nobody regrets this more than the Portuguese Authorities; they regret this doubly, because it is sad to see blood shed in a peaceful land, and also because the events which have taken place show the profound injustice with which a few feeble-minded and bad people have excited a crowd and repay with feelings of rancour, the kindness, the generous treatment, the treatment full of friendship and of benignity which the Portuguese Authorities grant to all the people of this Colony.

I am certain that the Canton Government, when it has become fully cognizant of the facts through this lengthy exposition, will rest assured as to how unalterable and more solid than all the incidents, are the century-old relations which exist between Portugal and China.

Macao Government House,
3rd of June, 1922.

To the Vice-Consul in Charge of the Consulate-General for Portugal at Canton.

(sd.) HENRIQUE M. CORREA
DA SILVA,
Governor.

At St. Paul's Church, Knightsbridge, on April 26, the marriage was solemnised between Mr. H. E. Sly, C.M.G., of his Majesty's Consular Service in China, and Miss Mollie Williams, daughter of Major H. C. Williams, late of the Royal Field Artillery. The Rev. A. Burton, rector of All Souls, Langhamplace, officiated, assisted by the Rev. T. W. Cathrey, and Major D. Williams gave the bride away. Her dress was of deep cream lace, with a short pointed train of the same material lined with chiffon, and her veil of deep cream net was worn beneath a head-dress of sparkling brilliants. Her bouquet was composed of pink and cream orchids. Mr. John White acted as best man.

YPRES TO DAY.

A 30 YEARS JOB.

(BY SIR GREGORY KOSTER IN THE "DAILY MAIL.")

Picture to yourselves an army of three thousand workmen travelling day by day from Bruges, from Ghent, from Brussels, from Roulers, and many other smaller towns to the desolate station at Ypres.

They find the station-yard literally choked with bricks, tiles, and all manner of building materials. They join forces with some thousand others who live in huts either in or close around what remains of the ramparts of the ancient town.

They are all at work on the prodigious task of re-creating the town left desolate by the war. They look on it as a work that will take at least thirty years, of which but two are gone by.

When the armistice came in 1918, there was not a house left standing in Ypres. There were the gaunt remains of the famous Cloth Hall still standing high above the ground; there were the scanty remains of the great Cathedral of St. Martin close by of which the beautiful central doorway was the chief feature, and the remains of three other churches were yet visible. All was chaos, hardly a road traceable!

And now after two years of steady and well-organised labour there is order gradually coming.

Several hundred red-roofed houses are in various stages of completion. Some are already finished and their owners, when shopkeepers, are making a brave show of useful articles.

Some of the hotels have already started business again, some with nothing but wooden shanties, some with parts of buildings still awaiting completion.

Everything that makes town life possible needs renovation. The main road from the station to the Grande Place is impassable for wheeled traffic, for the main sewer is being relaid. There is a little army of men at work on it under the direction of an Englishman. Lower down, by what remains of the once majestic Lille Gate, there is another little army reconstructing the water-service.

The Grande Place is a piteous sight. But even the Cloth Hall is already tidied up. All around it are great piles of stones that have been cleared and rearranged ready for rebuilding. The staircase in the northern tower is clear, and men are at work making good the lowest flight that was blown to pieces.

The eastern market-hall is quite clear, its floor already relocated and its columns reset.

At the cathedral little more than a partial clearance has been made; the great church of St. Peter, on the Lille road, on the other hand, has passed well beyond that stage, and the bricklayers are busy with the interior arches.

The whole place, in short, is a perfect hive of industry, and there is a wonderful spirit of quiet happiness born of seclusion work.

Pass out of the Lille Gate to the corner known as "Hell-fire Corner," and let the eye range round to Kemmel Hill, to the railway dug-out cemetery, and you get the contrast. Within the gate, all business, without, all desolation, for the energy of the Belgians, great as it has been, has done little else without than clear the roads and pile the barbed wire in heaps.

Ypres and the whole district are indeed impressive at this stage of reconstruction.

A Highland shepherd in the employment of a farmer in East Ross, Scotch-shire, is now among the wealthiest men in Scotland. While herding his sheep he received information that a fortune round about £50,000 had been left him by a cousin who died in Australia after having amassed great wealth.

HOLIDAY GOLF.

COMPETITIONS AT DEEP BAY.

At the Deep Bay golf course yesterday, a series of competitions for ladies and gentlemen attracted a good number of competitors, and some fine games were witnessed. The attendance was not as large as was anticipated, but nevertheless the competitions were keenly contested throughout.

Following were the results:—

OVER THE SIDE.
AMERICAN SAILOR ACCUSED OF THEFT.

Robert Carr, a young boatwain of the Admiral Line s.s. "President Jefferson" (formerly the "Winchester") was charged before Magistrate Lindell yesterday with theft of ship's stores on a large scale, amounting to about $1,000.

The articles enumerated in the charge against the defendant included 18 cans of paint, two barrels of oil lead, five tins of raw linseed oil, 10 block-shackles, a quantity of Manila rope, and a 70-foot long canvas ventilator shute.

According to the case for the prosecution the Port Captain of the Admiral Line (Capt.
Froberg) boarded the "President Jefferson" about 8 o'clock on Sunday night, and noticed the stores being lowered into a junk. He made enquiries which led to the arrest of Carr and the four Chinese who were in the junk. On one of the Chinese was found a typewritten pass to take goods off the vessel of the value of $400. This pass, the prosecution alleged, was not genuine.

Inspector P. Grant who had charge of the prosecution, asked for a remand in order to collect evidence.

Before adjourning the case, however, the Magistrate agreed on the defendant's application, to fear the evidence of two witnesses for the defence, who were members of the crew of the ship which was due to leave port for the States in the afternoon.

Paul Johnson, the ship's carpenter was the first witness called. He said that he knew nothing about the affair, but distinctly remembered that on the previous night a Chinese called Carr had come on board and asked Carr to do business with him.

Carr refused and the Chinese went away.

Albert W. Mittie was the next witness, he also said that he knew nothing about the affair. Carr he said was in his company up to 8 p.m. on Sunday when he left the mess-room to go on deck. That was all

he knew about the matter, except that later the same night he heard a rumour about the theft, and that Carr was implicated in it.

Replying to the Magistrate, Carr said: "To deal in this stuff you have to have a pass, and I have more brains than to try and get it away without a pass."

When Inspector Grant pointed out that at 8 p.m., the time Mittie had said Carr had gone on deck, was about the time the theft was alleged to have taken place, Carr said that he left the mess-room because the Chief Mate wanted to see him.

Mittie was recalled, but said he could not remember anyone coming to the mess-room with a pass.

The case was adjourned until this morning.

The four Chinese arrested on the junk were charged with having received the stores, knowing them to have been stolen.

In applying for a remand, Inspector Grant said the first defendant was a broker, the second was the licensee of the junk, and the third and fourth were his folk. The first defendant was on the ship when the Port Captain went on board and was
superintending the loading of the stuff
into a junk.

The Magistrate: There does not appear to be much against the other three defendants. It is rather hard to charge the boat people with receiving the stolen property. They were merely engaged by the first defendant to carry the stuff. The third and fourth defendants are discharged.

The broker was remanded until this
morning.

see of the junk, and the third and
fourth were his folk. The first defendant was on the ship when the Port Captain went on board and was
superintending the loading of the stuff
into a junk.

The Magistrate: There does not appear to be much against the other three defendants. It is rather hard
to charge the boat people with
receiving the stolen property. They
were merely engaged by the first defendant to carry the stuff. The third
and fourth defendants are discharged.

The broker was remanded until this
morning.
